Lynnette Lipp

Amador Student Music Fund

She is a woman with quite a past. Lynnette was born in Chicago, Illinois and taught for 30 years in the Los Angeles Unified School District. That’s the short version. The impressive part is her education at USC, Cal State Northridge, Pepperdine

School of Business, and West Los Angeles Law School. That commitment to personal education garnered her a BA degree in Music; a Life Teaching Credential; a Masters Degree in Computer Science and a Ph.D in Law.

Lynnette is the spouse of Rick Lipp, a Professional Pianist and Vocalist. She also owns Invitations Plus a Wedding & Event Planning business. She currently serves as a Trustee of the Amador Unified School District; is a member of the Democratic Club and a past member-Amador Democratic Central Committee. She also serves as a Director of the Amador Student Music Fund (ASMF), and that is what we are going to hear about.

ASMF originated as an action project stemming from proposed and now in effect, budget cuts throughout the state of CA, which have continued to all but eliminate music from most public schools in California.

ASMF is committed to promoting, encouraging advancement of, and continuing support of music for all youngsters, enrolled in public or private schools, home-schooled or faith-based schools. The mission is to provide and promote the integration of music into the lives of disadvantaged students in order to enhance students' academic performance and creative and general development.

ASMF serves to provide instruments and weekly music instruction for EVERY child who wants to learn to play an instrument. They are committed to help any student pay for music lessons and instruments, and to enhance the quality of life of our young people thru music.

All contributions to ASMF are tax deductible

This and That

We don’t have the final accounting for the Plymouth Flea Market, but it appears to have been well attended. I know the kitchen was busy. Our thanks to Troy and Mary Ann for all of their hard work putting this event together, and thanks also to our many volunteers for all they did to make this a success.
